Prospective Reviewers should read this carefully.

Reviewers will assume their responsibilities after Authors submit their first draft to EGSA. Reviewers have the responsibility to review chapter drafts and to provide feedback, ideas, and suggestions to the authors. Reviewers will submit their reviews to EGSA which will then forward them to the authors.

We need at least two Reviewers for each chapter. We also seek reviewers for sections of the book. This will include reviewing all chapters within a section and will assist us to ensure continuity, reduce duplication, and discover conflicting information.

We will not assign reviewers to critique the work of authors who work for the same company.

We use an "Honor System" here because Reviewers will not have to submit evidence of expertise as Authors are asked to do. Reviewers must have experience and knowledge that enables them to provide an objective critique, offer constructive comments and suggestions for improvement of the chapter, and help ensure that it is comprehensive in scope, contains the most up-to-date information available, is authoritative, represents a work of the highest quality possible, and that any corporate or product bias has been eliminated to the fullest extent possible.
